The VJN is proud to announce our first Global Classroom hosted online by our partner Durham College, Oshawa, Ontario.

The Global Classroom is a 90 minute live-streamed online session which provides a discussion forum for four participant groups at one time. The educational event can be viewed through an online live stream by interested individuals anywhere around the globe!

The presentation and discussion will consider whether restorative justice is an appropriate resolution to sexual assault cases that have traditionally proceeded through the criminal justice system in Canada and other jurisdictions.

How Can You Participate:

Via pre-registration at the link above and below. This forum is open to anyone interested in viewing the live stream event. There will be a monitored live Twitter feed that will allow registered viewers to interact with the group participants via questions and comments. Presentation materials will be shared with registered viewers.

Technical Requirements:

Hi-Speed Internet Access is required to view the live stream of this session. Pre-registration is required, and a pre-broadcast test of your computer or device is available via the IT service provider at the link below.

Spaces are Limited! Please register via this link:
